

Franz Eder

Franz Eder is associate professor of International Relations at the University of Innsbruck and a lecturer at the University of Applied Science BFI Vienna. He is currently the Dean of Studies at the School of Social and Political Sciences at the University of Innsbruck. In his research, he focuses on foreign policy analysis, US foreign and security policy, (counter)terrorism and methodological questions of the study of International Relations. His recent publications include Making Concurrence-Seeking Visible: Groupthink, Discourse Networks, and the 2003 Iraq War in Foreign Policy Analysis, Cui Bono Scientia Politica? A Multi-Dimensional Concept of Relevance and the Case of Political Science in Austria (with Martin Senn) in Austrian Journal of Political Science and Der Irakkrieg 2003 at Innsbruck University Press.